

Dear Sirs,

Further media concentration is a threat to competition and to the free dissemination of information and opinion. Deals are already being hatched as if the decision to permit increased media concentration and cross ownership has already been made.

We, the people, are being increasingly subjected to a government of the corporations, by the corporations, and for the corporations.

Sincerely,
Tom Freeman